SEYMOUR, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4, 1913.

PRICE TWO CENTS

URGE EFFORT TO GET PENAL FARM

Number of Local Citizens Believe Seymour Should Go After New State Institution.

COMMISSION TO SELECT SITE

All Requirements Could Be Met by Farms in This Locality—No Donations Permitted.

In a short time a site will be selected for the state penal farm and some of the citizens are in favor of making an effort to locate it near Seymour. The commissioners, who will select the site, will be required to investigate all places offered and will recommend the purchase of the one which is best located, all conditions considered, for the purpose. The farm will consist of not less than five hundred acres and the buildings, which will be erected, will cost several thousand dollars. It has been suggested that the Commercial Club take the matter up as it is believed that it would be a valuable addition to the city.

The law, passed by the recent Indiana legislature, by which the penal farm will be established, provides that in selecting the site the commissioners shall take into consideration the objects and purposes of the institution and shall select the location with a view of the best natural resources and advantages for varied forms of farming, fruit growing, stock raising, brick making, preparation of roads and paving material. It is also provided that good railroads advantages, drainage, sewerage and water facilities shall be taken into consideration.

There are quite a number of sites in the vicinity of Seymour which would fill the requirements and if it should be decided to go after the farm, it is altogether probable that it could be located here. The farming land around Seymour is second to none in the state, drainage facilities are excellent, conditions are good for fruit and stock raising and the shale hills a few miles west furnish sufficient material for brick making.

A clause in the act providing for the state penal farm, will prevent cities and communities bidding for the institution by offering donations of land and other inducements. It is the intent of the law that members of the commission, who were named recently by Governor Ralston, shall be free to select a site without considering anything other than the adaptability of the land and site for such an institution. Attention has been called to the following sentence in the act concerning the purchase of land for the state farm:

"In selecting and deciding upon a site the commission shall not take into consideration any offer of land or other donations or inducements."

It is said that other states have suffered in the locating of various institutions by allowing the sites chosen to be controlled by offers of free sites.

In erecting the buildings and getting the farm in condition for occupancy, the boards of trustees of the Indiana state prison and reformatory are authorized to transfer to such farm any prisoners of mechanical ability, who may be employed to good advantage. After the farm is equipped, it shall be the duty of the judicial officers to send all prisoners above the age of commitment to the Indiana Boys' School, who have been convicted of the violation of any criminal law of the state or of any ordinance, the punishment for which now consists of imprisonment in a county jail or workhouse.

The costs of the transportation of prisoners will be paid by the counties from which such prisoner is sent and the sheriff shall be allowed the same mileage and fees as in case of taking a prisoner to the state penal institution. Under this act prisoners in this county, who are sent to the Brownstown jail, would be committed to the state penal farm where employment would be given them for the number of days they are sentenced. The penal farm will be an advantage to counties like Jackson, where no rock-pile is maintained or other employment given to prisoners.

CONTRACTORS IN ALL LINES EXPECTING A BUSY SUMMER

Building of New Residences Show The Steady Growth of the City—Much Repair Work.

That Seymour is having a steady growth is shown by the fact that all the contractors in the city are busy erecting residences, some of which will be occupied by persons who are moving to the city. Quite a large amount of repair work has also been done this spring and some of the contractors declare that they have sufficient work to keep them busy the rest of the summer. A large amount of building is indicative of the general prosperity of the city and also shows that good residences are in demand and a paying investment.

Several new homes will probably be erected in the Westover Addition this summer and these will furnish employment for additional men. New residences are being constructed in other parts of the city and others, which have not yet been started, are contemplated. The brick masons give the same favorable report, regarding the amount of work in their line and from all indications the summer will be a busy one for all contractors.

The work on the new factory building, which is being erected for the Reliance Manufacturing Co. on the Ahlbrand lot, is being rapidly pushed to completion and will be ready for occupancy before the latter part of the summer. Some delay has been occasioned by the failure of some of the material to arrive. This, however, is on the ground and it is not expected that there will be any further delays.

High School and Grade Pupils.

All high school and grade pupils, who are expecting to make up back work or do extra work during the summer, are requested to meet at the Shields building tomorrow, Thursday morning at 9:00 o'clock.

Indiana Study Club.

The Indiana Study Club will meet with Mrs. F. A. Steele at her home on West Seventh street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Laura Cox, Sec'y.

Purchased First Lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Dixon purchased the first lot in Westover today, one of the best in the new addition, paying the cash for it.

VACATION SEASON IS DRAWING NEAR

Local People Arranging Their Annual Outing for the Hot Summer Months.

AUTOMOBILE TRIPS POPULAR

Beautiful Spots Along Banks of White River Afford Excellent Camping Grounds for Many.

The vacation season will soon be here and already a large number of local people are discussing plans for their annual outing. The majority of persons take their vacation during the summer months and practically all the local concerns make arrangements so that their employees may have a week of rest and recreation during the hot days of the summer.

Almost each year the railroad companies offer special excursion rates during the summer months and tours through the east and west have become quite popular with local people. Quite a number are making arrangements to spend part of the summer in Michigan or other states in the north, where special summer accommodations are afforded. Others are contemplating river trips and these are enjoyed each summer by many Seymour people.

The growing popularity of the automobile has resulted in many motorists spending their vacation in their machines. Last year several automobile enthusiasts took long trips and declared that it was an ideal way to spend a few weeks. Often the automobile enthusiasts carry their own tents and other equipment and combine the automobile journey and camping outing. Those who have enjoyed a trip of this kind say they are enabled to see many beautiful parts of the country which they would not be able to visit except on an overland trip.

Possibly one of the most popular ways of spending a vacation is that of camping along the banks of some of the rivers and streams in this community. There are but few places in Indiana where more beautiful and attractive river scenes can be found than near this city. Ideal spots are afforded for camping and good fishing may be found. Several cabins have been erected along the river banks and these may be rented by camping parties. Last year scores of persons enjoyed their outing in this way and already quite a number are planning to spend a week or so this summer along the banks of White River and Muscatatuck.

One advantage of such trips as these is that they are inexpensive and for anyone who enjoys outdoor life, it is hard to find a more pleasant way to spend a week's vacation. Fishermen say that angling will be good this summer and that bass and other game fish are plentiful. The high water, it is reported, resulted in thousands of fish being brought to White River from the streams above and the river is better stocked now than for years.

METHODIST CONFERENCE AT HOPE ADJOURNED TODAY

Meeting of Ministers Called by District Superintendent—Sermon by Rev. D. L. Thomas.

The district conference of the ministers of the Methodist church of this district, which has been in session at Hope since Monday, adjourned this afternoon. The meeting was called by District Superintendent F. A. Steele, of this city, and was well attended. The ministers manifested much interest in the reports and discussions. The reports of the district superintendent and pastors on conference business and organization were given Tuesday.

Dr. D. L. Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city delivered a strong sermon Tuesday evening on "Personal Evangelism." Discussions of the sermon were made by Rev. T. J. Anthony and Rev. M. H. Reynolds. Rev. W. E. Edgin, formerly chaplain at the Indiana Reformatory, discussed the question of "Men and Boys in the Sunday School." The reports of the Woman's Home Missionary Society and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society were also given. Others on the program were Rev. H. A. King, president of Moores Hill College, who gave an address on "Christian Education," Rev. S. L. Walker and Rev. L. H. Kendall.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST B. & O. SOUTHWESTERN ON TRIAL

Samuel Gray Asks Damages For the Death of His Wife, Who Was Killed by Train.

The damage suit filed by Samuel Gray, of Mitchell against the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad is on trial in the Lawrence circuit court. Many witnesses from Mitchell are attending the trial, having been called as witnesses.

The wife of the plaintiff was killed at Mitchell more than a year ago while crossing the tracks near the railway crossing at that place. The husband had stopped to talk to a friend. It is alleged that the yelling of one of the trainmen so confused her that she was unable to save herself.

Mrs. Hannah Tucker Dead.

Mrs. Hannah Tucker, a sister of Mrs. Hardin McGeary, of this city, and Mrs. Delia Brown, of Chestnut Ridge, died Monday afternoon at her home at Newtown, Ohio, of cancer of the throat. She was seventy-six years of age last January. She is survived by her sisters, the only ones living of a family of twelve children. Her husband died several years ago and she also had one deceased child.

St. Paul Church.

The pastor will continue the mid-week study this evening by taking up for his subject, "Jonathan and David." Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 the monthly business meeting of the Ladies' Aid.

The Sunday School will observe Children's Day by rendering the program, "The First Children's Day," Sunday evening, June 8th.

SUGAR MEN CALLED TO FRONT IN PROBE

Sixty, Supposed to be Identified With Trust, Asked to Appear in "Lobby" Hunt.

NAMES GIVEN BY PRESIDENT

Testimony of Senators Will Soon be Completed and Interests Will be in Limelight.

Washington, June 4—The "lobby" hunt took on a new and unexpected turn today when the senate began issuing subpoenas for nearly sixty men, all of whom are said to be identified with the sugar interests. A flock of sergeants-at-arms started out today to summon the witnesses for next week, by which time the investigators will have finished taking testimony of senators and will plunge into an examination of the so-called lobbyists.

It is generally assumed here that President Wilson furnished the names of those about to be subpoenaed. Frank C. Lowry, known in legislative circles here as the free sugar man, and secretary of the so-called wholesale grocers' committee; Henry G. Oxnard, one of the beet sugar men, and Truman G. Palmer are among those for whom summonses have been issued.

This new turn of affairs many believe is "one of the suggestions." President Wilson made at his recent conference with Chairman Overman and Senator Reed, of the investigating committee, and many of the President's friends predict it will be Mr. Wilson's answer to the testimony of many senators that they have seen no lobbyists in Washington and know of no attempts to influence congressmen against the Underwood bill.

TWO SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN WIRE STRETCHER SNAPPED

Mrs. Pauline Summa and Otho Henderson Rendered Unconscious by Ends of Broken Chain.

Mrs. Pauline Summa and Otho Henderson, who is employed on her farm near Vallonia, are in a serious condition as the result of a peculiar accident which occurred this morning while he was stretching a barbed wire on a fence. He was using a stretcher and the tension became so great on the chain to which the wire was fastened that it snapped in two.

Mrs. Summa, who was standing near watching the work, was struck on the top of the head by one end of the broken chain and received a deep, ugly wound. Mr. Henderson was hit under the right eye by the other end of the chain and was painfully hurt. Both were rendered unconscious and remained in the field until they recovered consciousness. Mr. Henderson assisted Mrs. Summa, who was more seriously hurt, to the wagon which he had driven to the field and took her to the house. Mrs. Summa was reported to be in a serious condition this afternoon, although it is not believed that her injuries are fatal. No one saw the accident and the broken chain is the only evidence of how it occurred.

TYPHOID FEVER IN JACKSON COUNTY ABOVE STATE RATE

Death Rate From This Disease 50.5 According to Statement of State Board of Health.

The death rate in Jackson county from typhoid fever is 50.5 according to the report of the Indiana Board of Health. This is above the average death rate for the state which is 35.1 for each one thousand inhabitants.

The bulletin issued by the state board of health is as follows and shows the rate above the state average:

It has been said that—"Typhoid fever like sin a disgrace to any community," and it is true. The eating or drinking of human filth is the method of introduction of typhoid infection into the body. Just why people persist in eating and drinking their sewage and thus suffer from typhoid has never been explained. It certainly is not cleanly, decent, or in any degree pleasurable. Typhoid is a disease which communities and rural dwellers elect to give themselves in payment for a comfortable amount of sloth.

It is the sincere hope of the State Board of Health that very soon the people of Indiana will tire of dying at the rate of almost one thousand annually and suffering at the rate of about ten thousand cases. This disgraceful record can be wiped out by all persons, all of the time disposing of all their sewage, in a sanitary way.

The average Indiana typhoid death rate for the last ten years is 35.1 each 100,000 population. In Germany the rate is 4.4. In England 6.2 and in Holland 3. Cannot we do as well? The counties having a typhoid death rate above the state rate of 35.1, are: Bartholomew, 42.3; Clark, 50.6; Clinton, 38.4; Crawford, 62.7; Daviess, 49; Delaware, 38.7; Dubois, 41.5; Fayette, 38.1; Floyd, 38; Gibson, 49.9; Hamilton, 38.1; Greene, 50; Hancock, 42.4; Harrison, 60; Jackson, 50.5; Lake, 48.5; Lawrence, 64.3; Marion, 42.6; Morgan, 48.4; Ohio, 40.7; Orange, 50.3; Owen, 35.7; Parke, 36.3; Perry, 42.7; Pike, 64.9; Posey, 37; Ripley, 39; Scott, 37.8; Shelby, 36.9; Spencer, 39.6; Sullivan, 39.9; Switzerland, 35.9; Vigo, 46.3; Washington, 50.4.

The county having the lowest typhoid death rate in the last ten years is Noble which has a rate of 12.1. The county having the highest is Pike 64.6. When the evidence is all considered it appears that the people of Indiana eat altogether too much sewage. Let us so live that typhoid will not visit us.

Great LOT SALE

—AND OPENING OF— WESTOVER ADDITION

to SEYMOUR, INDIANA, Will Take Place

SATURDAY, JUNE 7th and Monday, June 9th

What Others Say About Westover

The new addition to Seymour, which is being sold out by the Bainum Investment Company, is in the line of growth of the city and is bound to be a very desirable part of the city.

LYNN FAULKCONER.

Westover Addition is delightfully located for residence purposes. Every lot will make a good homesite and is bound to increase in value.

N. KAUFMAN.

If I were a young man looking for a lot on which to build my future home in this city, I would be sure to get one or more of the lots in the new addition in the western part of town.

HENRY NIEMEYER.

I have great faith in the future of Seymour and consider any investment in real estate made here is a safe and sound one.

J. H. ANDREWS.

If I had invested here twenty-five years ago, I would have been independently rich. Conditions are even better now.

J. C. HAGERTY.

An investment in real estate is always safe, especially in a growing community and in the best residence part. It is sometimes difficult to get suitable lots like those being offered for sale in Westover Addition.

A. A. DAVISON.

I believe that the lots in Westover Addition will double in value within five years.

JNO. M. LEWIS.

Buying lots in the new addition to Seymour is better than purchasing government bonds.

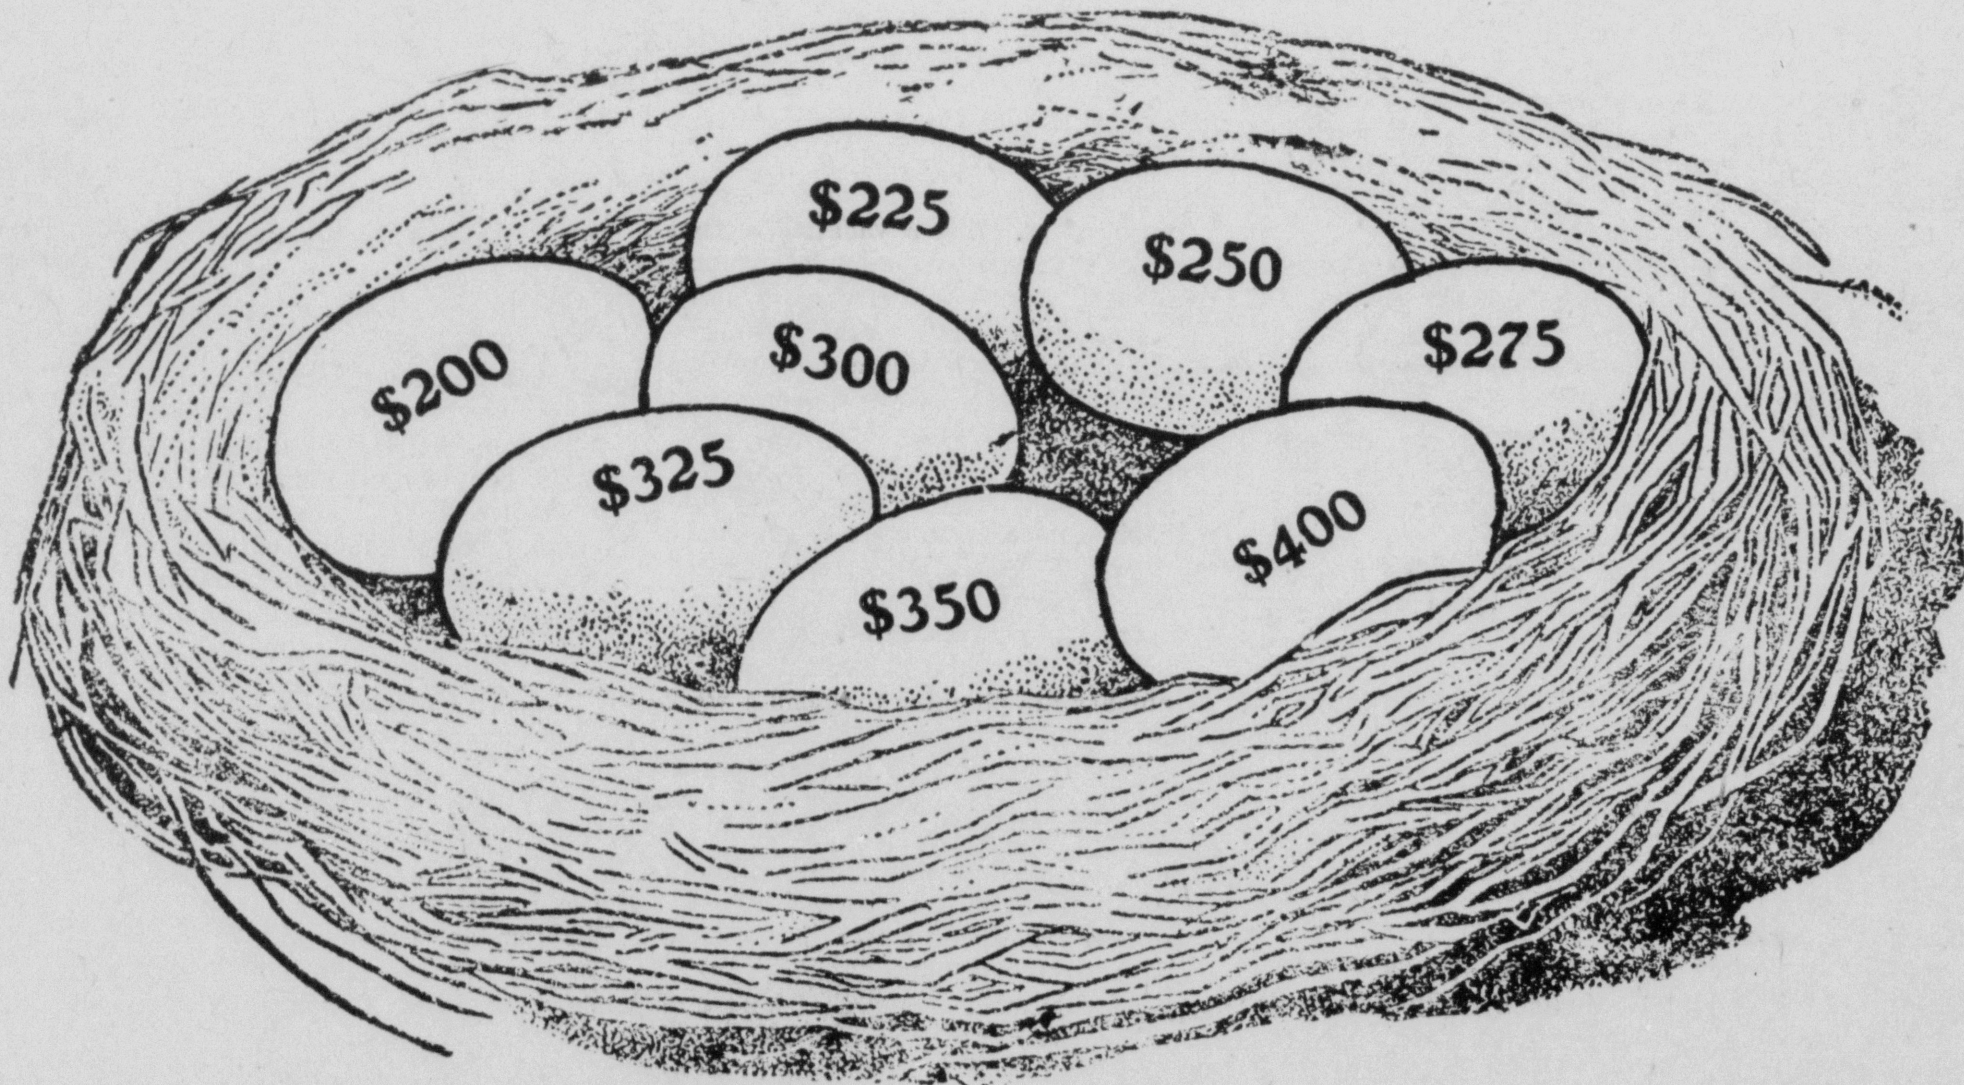

ALLEN SWOPE.

Good building lots in Seymour are practically all gone. The Westover Addition should be especially desirable.

W. L. JOHNSON.

There Are 90 of These Beautiful Lots And You Should Arrange to Secure One or More of Them.

Time and experience have demonstrated that lots in Seymour are a valuable asset and make a good investment. On our plan most any one can purchase as we are offering lots at low prices and on very reasonable terms. Deny yourself of a few of the unnecessary things for which you spend money and in a shorter time than you think you will own a valuable lot. Twenty-five cents a day saved will pay for a homesite in our addition.

If You Are

A RENTER—Buy a lot and start a home of your own.

AN INVESTOR—Buy a lot or two and make more money.

STARTING IN LIFE—Begin right by putting your money where it will grow rapidly.

WISE—Secure the lot you want before someone else does.

Our Faith in Seymour

We have pinned our faith to Seymour, believing that it has just begun to grow and will become a much larger city. With the splendid farming country surrounding it, the facilities for traffic and travel, the coming of other factories and industries, Seymour is bound to grow and be one of the largest cities in the state.

Things to Remember

1. That it is our aim to enable people to obtain homes and to sell lots at a price at which the speculator can purchase.

2. That the title to Westover is perfect and free warranty deeds will be given.

3. That while paying for the lots you have no taxes to pay until 1915.

4. That our terms are very reasonable and easy for all.

5. That a discount of ten per cent. will be allowed for cash.

6. That the price of these lots is as low as any around Seymour and location better.

7. That there are not many of these lots. First to come will be first served. Come early.

8. That all payments will be made at the Seymour National Bank.

9. That this is a high grade addition and that every lot will be valuable.

10. Come and see us. You will find us on the grounds or at our headquarters up town.

Keep Your Eye On Seymour

Seymour is growing steadily and will grow faster. A number of homes are in course of construction and many more are needed. If you need a home and want to invest, get a lot in Westover, where there is an abundance of water easily procured. Are you going to be wise enough to grasp the opportunity? If you are, you will buy at least one of these lots.

Every Lot a Nest Egg

Every lot in Westover is a nest-egg. They are well situated and well drained. Many of them have shade trees. They are near the schools and other points of interest in the city. They enjoy many advantages that other lots do not.

The BAINUM INVESTMENT CO.

PROTECT YOUR FAMILY

If you buy your land through my office in Benkelman, it means "INDEPENDENCE" to YOU in LIFE, and INDEPENDENCE to YOUR FAMILY at your death. I will enter into a contract and endorse right on your mortgage that if you die before you get your land paid for, that all indebtedness is canceled and your family gets clear title to your land, thereby putting them in good circumstances. I know just how a man feels about going into debt and worrying about leaving his family in debt should anything happen to him.

These worries are things I am striving to alleviate for my patrons, and under my plan you have no such worries. Buy of me such a place as you want, pay what you can and make the balance up in yearly payments. If you live you know you can handle it, you know you can make your payments. Should you die, the mortgage reads right on the face of it, that it is "PAID IN FULL" and your family starts off free from debt.

Moral: "Buy land of Matteson of Benkelman." He always stands by you.

Come, look over my lands, pick out a place for yourself and become a booster for this great land of opportunity, where you are independent through life, and your family is independent after your death. My new list and map sent free upon request.

"Dame Fortune does not tease men to shake her jeweled hand, nor does opportunity entreat her acceptance."

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4, 1913.

TO ADVANCE FARM LIFE.

An effort should be made to secure a county agent for instruction in agriculture in Jackson County. The duties of such an agricultural agent would be to cooperate with farmers' institutes, farmers' clubs and other organizations in the county, to conduct practical farm demonstrations, boys' and girls' clubs and contest work and to enlist active support for all movements for the advancement of agriculture and country life, and to give advice to farmers on practical farm problems as well as to assist the county superintendent of schools and the public school teachers in giving practical education in agriculture and domestic science.

Section 12 of the vocational law passed by the last legislature provides that whenever twenty or more residents of a county, who are actively interested in agriculture, shall file a petition with the county board of education for such a county agent together with a deposit of $500, to be used in defraying the expenses of such agent, the county board of education shall file said petition within thirty days with the county council. The county council upon the receipt of such a petition shall appropriate annually the sum of $1,000 in addition to the $500 deposited with the petition, making a total of $1,500, to be used in paying the salary and other expenses of the county agent. As soon as the county appropriation has been made, the county board of education shall apply to Purdue University for the appointment of such an agent and this appointment shall be made annually, subject to the approval of the county board of education and the state board of education. After the appointment has been made, there shall be paid annually from the state fund an amount not exceeding $1,000 for any one county toward the salary and expenses of such county agent. This is in addition to the $1,500 paid by the citizens and the county for this purpose.

Another provision of the act is that not more than thirty counties in the state may have such an agent during the year ending Sept. 30, 1914. Already sixteen counties in Indiana, over half the number permitted for the first year have made application for such an agent and have been promised an agent. A number of the wide-awake citizens in Jackson county are anxious to get in on the list of thirty, who can be cared for under the law during the first year. This year's service will begin next Sept. 1st and continue until Sept. 1, 1914. The first thing that is necessary is the securing of the $500 to be filed with the petition. Some of the business men of Seymour have already expressed a willingness to assist in raising this amount, if sufficient interest is shown by the farmers to complete the sum necessary.

This is a great opportunity to secure a practical farm expert at a very reasonable price. In one county in the state the local Grange took up the matter and asked each farmer to contribute one cent per acre for the land which he owned. In this way more than enough money was raised to meet the sum required for filing the petition. A man in charge of this work would prove of great value to the farm interests of our county in meeting the practical problems, which come up every day in farm life, and in stimulating the interest of the young people in farm work and farm possibilities, and be a strong factor in making farm life more attractive to everyone in the rural communities. An effort should be made at once to complete the amount necessary for securing the farm agent for Jackson County and thus keep our county in the very forefront as an agricultural county in the state.

The conference on agriculture and country life in Indiana, held at Indianapolis under the auspices of the Indiana Bankers' Association, has attracted wide interest in the state especially among farmers and others interested in farm life. The purpose of the conference was to develop educational, religious and social welfare of rural life. It was the first time that those who are working along various lines of agricultural development have been able to move together to one great end and for the common good of every man and family within the state. The success of the conference will doubtless result in other meetings of a similar nature.

In the tariff debate some very interesting facts have been brought out by the different speakers, and the hearings of economic and industrial conditions of the subject of tariff legislation have been pointed out. Mr. Anderson of Minnesota, told the House that "in the United Kingdom the average weekly family income in certain specified trades, including building, engineering, printing, and common labor is $7.74. In the United States the average weekly family wage in the same trades is $19.25."

"MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM" ENJOYED BY THE AUDIENCE

Play Given by the Pupils of the High School at the Gymnasium Tuesday Night.

Those who heard "Midsummer Night's Dream," given by a cast of High School pupils at the gymnasium Tuesday evening, enjoyed the occasion. The play had been prepared under the direction of Miss Maude Wagner. The intention was to give the play in the city park as a woodland play, but the heavy showers of the afternoon interfered with this plan and it was decided to hold it in the high school gymnasium, which was arranged hastily for the occasion. The characters were carefully selected and did their parts very well. The audience evidently enjoyed the performance judging by the applause which was given frequently during the performance.

The following was the cast of characters:

THE BENEFITS OF NEW LAW

Being Pointed Out at State Conference.

FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Object of Present Meeting Being Held at Indianapolis is to Promote Interest in the Methods of Tapping the Sources of Expert Knowledge of Farm Life and Disseminating This Information Among the People.

Indianapolis, June 4.—Representatives of twenty Indiana agricultural, horticultural, labor, commercial and financial organizations, and of Purdue and Indiana universities, nearly a thousand people are present at the first conference on agriculture and country life held in this state.

The conference is being held under the auspices of the Indiana bankers. The indications are that the conference will be made a permanent affair.

The meeting promises to prove a great boost for vocational education, reorganization of educational work, at least so far as the country is concerned, as is permitted and provided for in the new Indiana vocational education and county agent laws enacted this year.

The proposition is simple, as was brought out by all the speakers. The nation, the state and the county, and especially the farm taxpayers, have been paying the bills for the creation of a vast amount of knowledge and development of science at Purdue and other agricultural colleges and experiment stations, and in the national department of agriculture. The plan is to tap these great accumulations and get this knowledge and science out into the land.

Prof. G. I. Christie of Purdue university, who called the conference together, said: "The necessity of such a course was forced by the rapidly increasing value of land, the high cost of living in towns and cities, the movement of the young away from the land, soil robbing and waste that results in reduced crops, the discovery of new ideals in education, and the popularizing of the facts which mean better and larger crops and more economical use of them."

DEED OF AN INSANE MAN

Fatally Wounded Wife and Then Cut His Own Throat.

Corydon, Ind., June 4.—At his home southwest of Corydon William Daily attempted to kill his wife and then took his own life by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor.

Mrs. Daily, whose skull was fractured with a hatchet, is still alive, but her recovery is doubtful. She has not yet been able to give any of the details of the tragedy. The five small children of Mr. and Mrs. Daily were the only witnesses to the occurrence.

With the father dead and the mother lying helpless from her injuries, one of the children ran to the home of a neighbor and told them what had happened. When the neighbors arrived Mrs. Daily was lying on the steps of the home and her husband was lying dead in the yard with the hatchet and the razor lying near him.

Daily has been regarded as insane for some time, and a few months ago an unsuccessful attempt was made to have him committed to an asylum.

EARLY RELEASE ORDERED

Gail, Prinzler and Emmerich Soon Will Have Their Freedom.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 4.—Three well-known Indianapolis men confined in the United States penitentiary here will be free again within a few days. Word received from the department of justice says that favorable action has been taken on the applications of Paul C. Gall, Harry Prinzler and Max R. Emmerich of Indianapolis, who are serving sentences for obtaining $40,000 illegally from the Capitol National bank of Indianapolis, where Emmerich formerly was employed.

The certificates ordering the release of the men were mailed at Washington yesterday and when they are received at the prison the men will be liberated, after three years of imprisonment.

The Phantom Fire Ship.

The traditional "fire ship" of Chaleur bay, New Brunswick, appearing usually before a storm, has a basis of fact, according to a scientist. It is a hemispherical light, with the flat side toward the water, glowing sometimes without much change of form, but at other times rising into slender, moving columns, in which an excited imagination might recognize the flaming rigging of a ship. The general explanation offered is that this object is a manifestation of St. Elmo's fire, an electrical phenomenon, but the reason for its appearing only on or near Chaleur bay is not known.—London Telegraph.

Three Women Were Designated.

Pittsburg, June 3.—S. L. Heeter, superintendent of Pittsburg public schools, was found guilty of charges of immorality in the report of a committee of six citizens who investigated the school head. Three women were designated in the report.

MRS. H. P. WHITNEY

American Society Leader's Art Work Receives Honors Abroad.

Paris, June 4.—Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, formerly Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, was one of twenty-two exhibitors in sculpture who received honorable mention by the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts.

MOVE IN INTEREST OF THE CONSUMER

President Wilson Has His Way With Committee.

Washington, June 4.—The subcommittee on finance of the senate, on "second thought" has decided that flour and meats shall remain on the free list as in the Underwood bill. At the same time the "raw materials" that enter into their production—wheat and oats and cattle, sheep and hogs—will enter the United States market free. Under the Underwood bill, as it stands now, cattle, sheep and hogs are taxed 10 per cent and wheat and oats 10 cents a bushel.

Thus the demand of the northwestern millers that the duties on grains and the duty on flour be "equalized" has been now met by making both free. In like manner there has been an equalization as regards livestock and meats by putting them both on the free list.

This is the most important move in the interest of the consumer that has been made since the Underwood bill left the house, and the credit for it belongs chiefly to President Wilson. He has stood for the free listing of grains and of cattle and other meat-producing animals in the face of great opposition from the farmers of the country. It was this feature of the Canadian reciprocity bill that brought a flood of protests in upon President Taft, and it is predicted that Mr. Wilson will be now subjected to the same kind of pressure.

Steps have been taken by Great Britain for a coaling station in the Hawaiian Islands at which vessels may be supplied coming and going to the Panama canal.

MAKING THE LITTLE FARM PAY

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

PERSONS operating land for profit need to study such questions as these:

What commodities are easiest to produce and sell in nearby markets? To what line of production is the soil best adapted?

Suppose there are good cash markets close at hand, which crops or products pay the best?

What line of produce will distribute the labor most evenly through the year?

A practical arrangement is to keep one hired man for every dozen dairy cows and to have such a diversity of work summer and winter as will keep the help profitably employed through the day as well as at milking time. A good poultry plant balances the program nicely. Twenty-four cows are none too many for a place of fifty to eighty acres. It is not the best kind of farming to allow cattle to roam at will in a large pasture. It is more profitable to fence them merely a few acres of range that may afford pasture through May and June and depend on the cultivated land to raise most of their fodder.

As a rule pastures become dry in midsummer and the supply of milk can not be kept up without silage, hay or selling crops. By the 1st of July a farmer should have vetch, alfalfa or a combination like oats and peas. An excellent kind of summer feed is produced by sowing rye and clover in the fall. This can be cut for hay in June. There ought to be corn silage all the year round for any kind of cattle, but particularly for dairy animals.

With a well managed little dairy like this the owner can clear $100 to $150 a month above the cost of labor and the rental value of the land. The produce may be handled in the form of cream and butter, and this system leaves a large supply of skimmed milk for pigs and poultry. The dairy should clear at the least $1,200 a year, besides paying all the wages and other operating expenses, and $600 ought to be made in hogs and $600 in poultry, besides something from vegetables and fruit.

FARM ADVICE IN RIME.

Ye rigid plowmen, bear in mind
Your labor is for future hours.
Advance, spare not, nor look behind!
Plow deep and straight with all your powers.

DESTRUCTIVE APPLE BLITCH.

Disease That Costs Thousands of Dollars to Fruit Growers Each Year.

Apple blitch is the most destructive fruit disease in Kansas, causing thousands of dollars' loss every year. It can be almost entirely prevented on fruit the first year, even in badly infested orchards, says D. E. Lewis, who is assistant in horticulture at the Kansas Agricultural college at Manhattan, Kan.

It is impossible to control blitch after it has gained entrance to the fruit. No blitch can be seen at the time of the first spraying, but if the spores are present on the twigs in cankers it means you will have blitch on the fruit unless it is sprayed. Blitch is not visible to the naked eye for two or three weeks after it has entered the fruit.

The solution used in spraying for this fungous disease is Bordeaux mixture. This is made from three pounds of copper sulphate, four pounds of lime and fifty gallons of water. It is important that all the copper sulphate be mixed with one-half of the water and all the lime with the other half and these two dilute solutions allowed to run together at the same time into the tank. Bordeaux solution made in any other way is less effective and may be even injurious to the fruit.

Photograph by Missouri state fruit experiment station.

APPLE BLITCH.

The first application should be three weeks after the petals fall, the second two weeks after the first; the third, in bud cases, will be required about four to six weeks after the petals fall, and the fourth eight to ten weeks after the petals fall, or at the time of spraying for the second brood of the codling moth. In mild cases the second application may be applied from three to four weeks after the first, and the third may be omitted. Bordeaux mixture must not be used during wet weather. If the weather is damp at the regular time of spraying apply lime and sulphur and spray with the Bordeaux as soon as the weather becomes settled.

WANTS TO ERECT AN ARMOR PLATE PLANT

Representative Barton Earnest In His Proposition.

Washington, June 3.—Request for the appointment of a special committee to investigate and rush a bill to the house providing for the erection of an armor plate plant to be owned and operated by the government was made in a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Barton, Republican of Nebraska. In presenting his resolution Mr. Barton asserted that he believed its adoption would fall as a blow on the steel trust and that the government would then secure freedom for itself from the exorbitant exactions of the armor plate monopolies.

Barton flatly charged that the navy department has recklessly spent enough money to "feed the hungry people of the world" in the past several administrations. "I would hazard the statement," Barton said, "that the condemned goods in the Washington navy yard, and the other navy yards of the United States, represent enough to feed the hungry people of the world."

Hope is now expressed that the monetary bill as well as the tariff bill will become laws before adjournment. It was made plain that few look for an early termination of the session. Speaker Clark predicted that congress would not adjourn until Oct. 1.

Guaranteed Eczema Remedy

The constant itching, burning, redness, rash and disagreeable effects of eczema, tetter, salt rheum, itch, piles and irritating skin eruptions can be readily cured and the skin made clear and smooth with Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. Mr. J. C. Cleveland, of Bath, Ill., says: "I had eczema twenty-five years, and had tried everything. All failed. When I found Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment, I found a cure." This ointment is the formula of a physician and has been in use for years—not an experiment. That is why we can guarantee it. All druggists, or by mail. Price 50c. Repertory.

Some say repertoire and frown on those that prefer repertory. Now, "repertory" first meant an index, list, catalogue, or calendar, and the word with this meaning goes back to the middle of the sixteenth century. About fifty years later the word began to be used as meaning a storehouse or magazine in which something may be found. Not till 1845 did the word appear in English literature as meaning "a stock of dramatic or musical pieces which a company or player is accustomed or prepared to perform," and "repertory," meaning the same thing, appeared at the same time, but was for a long time printed in italics as a foreign word.—Boston Herald.

Realistic.

Somebody had given her a Brazilian parrot, and she was showing it to a friend who is somewhat of a practical joker.

"You know," she explained, "this parrot comes from Brazil, and the Brazilian parrots are so intelligent that they are almost human. This bird whistles 'Home, Sweet Home' so beautifully that the tears run down its beak."

"Yes," replied her friend. "I know all about Brazilian parrots. I used to have one, and it whistled 'The Village Blacksmith' so beautifully that sparks would actually fly from its tail."—New York World.

Obituary.

John Harold Akeret, the little son of Will and Meede Akeret, born Jan. 29, 1907, in Jackson county, Indiana; died May 19, 1913; age 6 years, 3 mos., 20 days.

In Harold's brief span of life there has been mingled with the innocent joys and pleasures of childhood much of pain and suffering. Several times he has been seriously ill. Last March 14th he met with a painful accident in a windstorm. He was struck by a falling limb from a dead tree and was rendered unconscious. For a time his life was despaired of, but it was God's will to restore him to life and health.

Monday, May 19, when returning at noon with his father and little brother from the field he was thrown from the horse he was riding. He was caught in the harness and dragged to the barnyard where he was picked up by his father and mother and carried to the house. Dr. Hunter of Redington was called, who rendered all assistance possible, but to no avail. All that could be done was to prepare the bruised and mangled body for its last resting place.

Little Harold's happy, smiling face will be missed by all. His place among his classmates in the Sunday School and in the home circle has been left vacant while he has gone to fill another more glorious one high. The wheel is broken—one spoke is in Heaven.

The funeral services were held from the Akeret Church Tuesday afternoon, May 20, at three o'clock. Burial in the Akeret cemetery. Services conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Rose.

Banish All Skin Troubles

A Remarkable Remedy That Works Wonders Against Even Weeping Eczema.

Get a Bottle of S. S. S. To-day. It is Certainly a Wonder.

If you have been fighting some blood trouble, some skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, or what you will, there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the East. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all excretories of the body are marshaled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy to-day, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Their medical laboratory is famous, and is conducted by renowned experts in blood and skin diseases. Their advice is entirely free and always strictly personal.

The Society Parvenu.

Lady Dorothy Nevill had strong opinions on the woman question. She deplored the fact that so many women had nothing to do that they felt ready victims to the fad habit. A good many of them seem "completely to dominate their husbands," and she recalled the words of the old Shah of Persia who said, "It seems to me that an English or American husband is nothing better than a sort of butler." She was equally severe on the English society parvenus who were ashamed of their fathers and says that on one occasion a host was asked, "Is your father here?" and was not ashamed to reply, "Well, no—hang it all, you know one must draw the line somewhere."

CHAPTER IV.

The Adopted Daughter.

TO the uninitiated Manning's actions in following out this order would have been fraught with mystery. He pushed the table over to the window and tilted it on its side, adjusting and readjusting it until the light struck its polished surface at just the right angle. Then he produced a small but powerful camera, part of the contents of a small black hand satchel that he had dropped near the door and proceeded to take a number of photographs. He was arming his chief with an infallible means of identification.

You probably know that while our finger tips, with their countless fine concentric circles and ovals and sweeping lines, all appear about the same, no two are identical. In the various police bureaus of the civilized nations there are now thousands of the imprints of the finger prints of convicted men, and thousands are added yearly. Yet of all that vast number no two are alike.

When made accidentally, on furniture or glass, for instance, these marks are practically invisible to the naked eye, but when the suspected object is treated to a bath of fine light dust they come out all a dull gray against the background and may be photographed and make an everlasting record.

While Manning was busily absorbed in this work his chief's mind was busily digesting and arranging what little he had learned thus far. But presently he was interrupted by the bustling entrance of Mrs. Wyatt.

"Mr. Kayton?" demanded the lady, panting a little harder than usual, as she confronted the famous detective. "Is there anything you want to ask me?"

"Yes, I—" began Kayton, with a rush, but the voluble lady was not to be headed off.

"I wasn't here when it happened, you know," she bubbled. "I mean to say I don't know any more about it than you do, but I suppose you know a great deal." She beamed upon him. "You don't look at all like a detective, Mr. Kayton. Do you know what I mean?"

In spite of his impatience Kayton smiled and bowed.

"Mrs. Wyatt," he asked, "when did Mr. Argyle adopt Miss Mazure?"

"Mary?" exclaimed Mrs. Wyatt, opening her eyes. "Why, I don't know. She was just a little thing. I don't believe she was more than six, but I really don't know much about it. I mean to say I wasn't there. It was in San Francisco, you know. Mr. Argyle and Mr. Mazure were the dearest friends."

"What was Mr. Mazure's full name?"

Mrs. Wyatt bit her lips and rolled her eyes in the effort of recollection, holding her breath the while, with the result that her reply was a sort of explosion.

"I think it was John—yes, I know it was. It was John."

"What became of her mother?" inquired Kayton.

"Oh, she died there."

"In San Francisco?"

"Yes," nodded Mrs. Wyatt. "I really don't know much about her. Her maiden name was Marsh—Nellie Marsh. That's all I can tell you. I really don't know how I remember that. As I said, I never heard much about the mother except that there was some scandal about her."

Kayton concealed a keen and eager interest under an assumption of the mild curiosity of an idle gossip.

"Scandal?" he replied. "In what way?"

"I really can't say," replied Mrs. Wyatt. "Mr. Argyle never could be persuaded to talk about her. It was entirely on account of Mr. Mazure that he became interested in Mary."

"Entirely?" murmured Kayton.

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Wyatt assured him. "Entirely."

"How long have you lived here?" he asked pleasantly.

"Oh, many, many years! I mean to say—it must be twenty—ever since my husband died. I'm a widow—do you know what I mean? I'm a very old friend of the family, and when Mr. Argyle adopted Mary he felt that he must have a woman in the house."

Kayton nodded and stroked his chin. "Tell me, Mrs. Wyatt, what were the relations between Mr. Argyle and his son?"

Mrs. Wyatt drew a deep breath as ammunition for another speech. It was a long time since she had had so willing and delightful a listener.

"Oh, Mr. Kayton," she said pantingly, "that's something I don't like to talk about. It was the only thing we had to make us unhappy. Do you know what I mean? Bruce and his father never seemed to agree about anything. Why, the last time they quarreled he cut him off and left everything to Mary. We didn't any of us know it until yesterday. It's too bad to leave Bruce without anything. He's an artist, you know, and of course artists can't make much with their art. I mean to say if they don't have money they never get anywhere unless they're famous or something, and that doesn't happen very often. Do you know what I mean?"

Kayton nodded sympathetically, and Mrs. Wyatt, fortified by another breath that would carry her several hundred words, proceeded with her story:

"That night, Mary tells me, there had been a reconciliation. It's too bad it came too late to have him fix over his will. Mr. Hurley says he talked of it that very day. Mr. Hurley's his lawyer—I mean to say he's been attending to his affairs lately. I don't know anything about them. He'll be here himself. I telephoned him and told him that Bruce had put the case in your hands and that you were here.

"They might as well accuse me of murder as Mary."

You know, things were getting terrible. Why, the newspapers—they don't seem to care at all what they say. Do you know what I mean? Mary's prostrated. Why, they might as well accuse me of murder as Mary."

Kayton nodded, but his manner had changed. Having pumped her dry, he had no more time to waste on a garrulous woman.

"I'd like to see Miss Mazure," he said politely, but with a certain abruptness that amounted to a command. It had the desired effect on Mrs. Wyatt, who was at the moment meditating new flights of oratory.

"Oh, well, I don't know," she stammered. "I mean to say—if you want to—I suppose you must. I'll go right to her now." And she swept out of the room, her respect for Mr. Kayton vastly diminished.

"Joe," said Kayton crisply, in a low voice. "You attend to getting the finger prints of the rest of the family when you're done there."

"Yes, governor," replied Manning without looking up from his work. A moment later Finley returned with the English footman Topp in tow. The latter looked even more distressed than Andy when he was dragged into the room of death. Andy was wounded in his superstitions—Topp in his sensibilities. He had never heard of murders in well regulated households. There was no precedent for it.

He stood at attention two paces into the room while Finley indicated him with the air of a museum curator showing off an ordinary specimen.

"This is Topp, sir," he said to Kayton. The detective glanced at the footman and the footman stared at the detective.

"I suppose this man had no experience when he came to work here," remarked Kayton, addressing the butler. "On the contrary, sir," returned Finley, "he came with references from some of the best families."

"Why did they all discharge him?" demanded Kayton. Topp began to quake visibly, but his dignity was outraged.

"I doubt, sir," began Finley, when Topp by a mighty effort propelled himself forward and interrupted.

"If you hallowed to me, sir," he said, addressing Kayton, "I kin say for myself that I've a record in service that any man might be proud of."

"How did you come to be mixed up in this murder?" demanded the detective, his dark eyebrows coming together and his eyes darting baleful glances at the servant. Topp gasped and grew whiter than his speckled collar.

"Selp me I'd no 'an in it!" he cried excitedly.

Kayton made an inarticulate sound, indicative of extreme unbelief.

"That remains to be seen," he declared grimly, while Finley stared wonderingly from one to the other. "What were you doing that night?"

"Me, sir?" demanded Topp, with a start. "I'm a man of early hours and quiet 'abits. I'd read me evenin' paper an' was in me bed by 'alf past 10."

"Did you hear anything that night?"

There was almost a menace in Kayton's tone.

"I go to bed to sleep," returned the servant doggedly. "Hit's not me place to be watchin' and listenin'."

Kayton shrugged his shoulders as if to conclude the inquiry.

"You're one of these very heavy sleepers, I suppose."

"No, sir," returned Topp. "I'm a very light sleeper, sir. You kin wake me with a whisper."

"How did it happen that you slept through a murder, then?" demanded Kayton quickly.

"I didn't say I slept through a murder," protested the footman.

"You say you didn't hear anything. What did you do?"

"I 'ad an uneasy night," replied Topp, reluctantly, with manifest uneasiness. "And at 3 in the mornin' I got up and opened me window."

"Did you notice anything unusual?" demanded Kayton.

The footman hesitated. "I—I can't say it was unusual," he said uncertainly.

"No?" commented the detective, with unbecoming interest. "What was it?" Topp drew himself up, remembering that before all else he was a servant.

"It's not me place"—he began.

"What was it?" snapped Kayton, with an energy that made old Finley jump.

"What's the matter with ye, man?" demanded that worthy. "Out with it!" Topp moistened his lips. "I saw a light," he said in a low voice.

"Where?" The word cracked like a pistol shot.

Topp gulped and finally burst out in desperation.

"Well, sir," he cried, gazing accusingly at Finley, "since you will 'ave it—it was in th' room below."

"What room is that?" demanded Kayton, turning also to the butler.

"Why—why, sir," stammered the old man, aghast, "that's Miss Mary's room—but—"

But Kayton listened to hear no more.

"What did you do?" he asked Topp.

"I went back to me bed an' I was there when they wakened me."

Kayton thought for a moment in silence, his eyes on the floor. At last he raised them and nodded to the footman in sign of dismissal.

"Well, that's all for the present," Topp withdrew hurriedly, wiping the perspiration off his forehead, and Kayton asked Finley to get the maid, Kitty.

The old butler slowly moved over to the bell and rang it and then swiftly faced about.

"I might say, sir," he said, with a mixture of deference and defiance, "I think it would be nothin' unusual for Miss Mary to have a light in her room. Ye're wanted by th' detective, girl," he demanded Kayton.

"No, sir," Kitty hesitated again, and he waited. "She—she wouldn't let me in."

"Why not?" he demanded instantly.

"She said she'd be all right."

"Did you come down to this floor?"

"No, sir. I went right back to bed."

"Did you—never mind."

Suffered Twenty-One Years—Finally Found Relief.

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefitted me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity.

Gratefully yours,
MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE,
Avoyelles Parish, Marksville, La.
Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

The Colonel Is Satisfied.

New York, June 3.—Colonel Roosevelt reached New York without the 6 cents which he won in Marquette from George A. Newett, who wrote in his paper that the colonel drank too much. Mr. Roosevelt wasn't worrying about the 6 cents—he knew it was coming and he was gratified, immensely gratified at the verdict. He went straight from the station to his office, where he worked all day and refused to see reporters. When he went out to lunch he drank milk.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

BANKING COMMITTEE OPPOSES BRYAN PLAN

Conservative Currency Bill Now Seems Assured.

Washington, June 3.—According to expectations the Democrats of the house in a party caucus ratified the nomination of Representative Carter Glass of Virginia to be chairman of the committee on banking and currency. Mr. Glass favors the passage of a conservative banking and currency bill. He is opposed to the Bryan plan of government guarantee of bank deposits, and will fight any effort that may be made to incorporate in the banking and currency bill any of the legislation recommended by the Pidge money trust committee. Chairman Glass is working in co-operation with President Wilson and other officials on a banking and currency bill, and the belief is general that a measure will be evolved that will be accepted by a majority of the house Democrats. The new committee will get down to work at once, and the expectation is that President Wilson's banking and currency message will be forwarded to congress this week. Present indications are that the banking and currency bill will be passed by the house the first week in July.

Most of the important chairmanships are filled by members who held places in the last congress. For example, Representative Fitzgerald continues at the head of appropriations; Representative Clayton of Alabama, at the head of judiciary; Representative Adamson of Georgia at the head of interstate and foreign commerce; Representative Sparkman of Florida continues as chairman of rivers and harbors; Representative Padgett of Tennessee as chairman of naval affairs, and Representative Hay of Virginia as head of military affairs.

THE CONSERVATION OF ENERGY.

Shopping to some women, and to some men too means work—real hard drudgery. With knitted brow and determined look they go about their shopping with no more liking for it than a small boy who goes to get his hair cut. Do you wonder that the results under these conditions are costly and unsatisfactory, to say nothing of the distressing mental strain occasioned by such unscientific methods? Shopping drudgery is so needless, so unnecessary. It is your fault and my fault if we go at it blindly, and worry ourselves to distraction when, by the simple method of reading intelligent, helpful advertising in good newspapers like THE REPUBLICAN we may shorten our steps, settle perplexing questions, and, incidentally, if we read carefully, keep many a dollar within our purses that might otherwise go astray.

ARE UNIONISTS BEING ARMED?

Discovery at Belfast Creates Immense Stir.

RIFLES AND BAYONETS SEIZED

Mysterious Shipment Created the Suspensions of Customs Officers Whose Investigation Revealed Large Quantity of Modern Arms Which the Unionists Openly Boast Is but a Small Part of Their Present Store.

Belfast, June 4.—Becoming suspicious of twelve large cases which arrived from Manchester vaguely addressed and described as "electrical equipment," the local customs officials opened the cases and found them full of rifles and bayonets.

Technically the arms cannot be seized, as arms may be legitimately consigned to anybody in Ireland, but they will be held until the designs of the consignees can be ascertained.

The discovery of the arms and the seizure created an immense stir when it became known. Crowds flocked to the York dock, where the cases are held, to watch for developments, but nothing happened.

It is said that the cases contain about 2,000 rifles of modern foreign pattern. The address did not name any consignee. It was merely addressed "to order." It is claimed that the rifles were brought on the small steamer Helen, which was chartered at Belfast.

The general belief is that the Orange campaign against home rule is responsible for the arrival of the arms. The Unionist leaders decline to talk, but the rank and file declare that the consignment is undoubtedly a part of the equipment of the Loyalists, adding triumphantly that they could afford to lose a few hundred arms, as enormous consignments have already arrived here and the weapons are in the hands of those who will not hesitate to use them if the government tries to condemn them to the tyranny of the Roman Catholic Nationalists.

The home rule people, on the other hand, declare that the whole affair is a piece of theatricalism, either a practical joke or a political advertisement. The detention of the arms is ascribed to Dublin castle. It is not expected anybody will claim the cases now being held by the police.

BODY PICKED UP IN RIVER

Missing Student Apparently Had Taken His Own Life.

New York, June 4.—The body of Benjamin Chapman Gibson, the Columbia university student, who disappeared on May 24, was picked up last night in the East river off the foot of 32nd street.

Gibson had been worrying lest he had not passed the examinations in the teachers' college, where he had taken a course in pedagogy. It is believed his mind became unbalanced and he drowned himself. A pathetic feature of the tragedy is that he did pass the examinations with honor.

Mrs. Gibson, whom he left a week ago last Saturday night, saying he intended to walk "over to the East river," returned last week in care of a physician to the home of her parents in Owensboro, Ky. Gibson was forty-two years old.

HE "INCITED HOSTILITY"

This Is the Charge on Which a Jury Convicts Passaic Editor.

Paterson, N. J., June 4.—Alexander Scott, editor of the Weekly Issue, a Socialist paper published in Passaic, was convicted by a jury in the county court here of "inciting hostility to the government." The indictment was based on articles and editorials in which the Paterson police were held up to scorn and ridicule. The maximum penalty under the conviction is fifteen years' imprisonment.

Eagle Had Been Stealing Lambs.

Mooreville, Ind., June 4.—Henry C. Carter, a farmer living three miles east of here, had been missing his young lambs and chickens for some time. Yesterday he killed the thief. It was an eagle that measured over seven feet from tip to tip of wings.

Washington, June 4.—Mrs. Edward B. McLean, mother of Vinson McLean, "the $100,000,000 baby," is said to be threatened with appendicitis.

ANDREW ADAMS

Appellate Court Chief Justice Resigns to Take a Better Job.

Indianapolis, June 4.—Chief Justice Andrew A. Adams of the appellate court of Indiana has handed Governor Ralston his resignation to take effect Sept. 1. The resignation was accepted by the governor and Fred S. Caldwell of Winchester is the man who will succeed Judge Adams on the state bench. Judge M. B. Lary of Logansport will succeed Judge Adams as chief justice of the court. The resignation of Judge Adams follows his acceptance of an offer to become general counsel for the Arbuckle brothers in New York at a salary far in advance of that paid the judges of the Indiana courts.

STEEL TRUST HEAD FINISHES TESTIMONY

Judge Gary Further Defends Big Corporation.

New York, June 4.—At the hearing of the federal suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation, Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the big concern, has completed his direct testimony. He explained the object of the so-called "Gary dinners," and denied his corporation ever fixed the price of rails in a manner that influenced other rail manufacturers.

Taking up the point of publicity, Gary told of the efforts that the corporation has made to publish its affairs. He explained the publication of various monthly, quarterly and annual statements and of the readiness at all times to keep the government officials informed. "Concerning the attitude of the corporation to the federal government," explained Gary at that point, "I have always endeavored to keep it fully advised concerning all our affairs. I explained that if at any time the government was not satisfied with our conduct, we wished to make an explanation and then if we could not convince the officials that we were right, were always ready to change our methods."

Merrymaking Turned to Grief.

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 4.—Ed Marlett, twenty-eight years old, of this city, met death by drowning in St. Marys river while trying to rescue a friend, Jack Dunn, twelve years old, of Huntington. The latter also was drowned. The accident turned to sobs the laughs of a merry picnic party which was making young Dunn's visit in the city an enjoyable one.

Japan Explaining Her Views.

Tokio, June 4.—It is said that the government has sent another note to Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador at Washington, explaining the views of Japan on the California land legislation.

QUIZZERS MAKE SMALL HEADWAY

That "Insidious" Lobby Seems to Be Well Hid.

SOLONS KNOW NOTHING OF IT

The Inquisitors Have Got Well Down the List in Their Alphabetical Search For Information to Substantiate the President's Charges Without Unearthing Anything Save Vague Hints From Kenyon and La Follette.

Washington, June 4.—Before they found a member of the upper house of congress who was willing to venture the belief that there is a "lobby" in existence against the tariff bill, the senate investigators worked down the alphabet all the way to K. The "find" was Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who expressed the conviction that "President Wilson was indeed right in the charges he has made that a powerful lobby was at work in Washington to hinder or prevent the passage of the Democratic tariff bill."

Senator Kenyon could not give names or details, but nevertheless his conviction was firmly fixed that influence such as the president described had been at work.

Senator Kenyon did not believe that money was being used outright. That method is a thing of the past and is too crude. The modern lobbyist, as the senator from Iowa sees him, wins his way through flattery and holding out promises of social advancement, through giving elaborate social entertainments, dinners, banquets, theater parties, motor rides and yachting excursions.

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin also ventured the opinion that there are lobbies still in existence in Washington. He could not give names and was free to acknowledge that their influence had for a long time been on the wane and that conditions today are much better than they had been twenty-five years ago.

When the senate investigators called the day's work done at 10 o'clock last night they had examined all told thirty-three of their colleagues. Of this number, however, one-third or more of the entire senate, only two members, Kenyon and La Follette, have come forward with statements that can be construed as favorable to President Wilson's charge of a "numerous, industrious and insidious lobby." And both these are Republicans.

Many Democrats, including Senator Hughes of Mr. Wilson's own state, told the investigators that they had no knowledge of any illegitimate lobbying going on. Senator Hughes, however, was inclined to believe that the men who were seeking to bring about a change in the tariff bill were here in greater numbers and were more persistent than in 1909, when the Payne-Aldrich law was under consideration. Senator Penrose, on the other hand, declared the army that has invaded Washington to combat the Underwood bill is only about 40 per cent the size of the one that advanced upon congress when the Payne law was under consideration. The senator from Pennsylvania gave it as his opinion also that the practice of lobbying has become decadent.

It has become apparent that the problem which the Democratic members of the investigating committee have before them is to produce sufficient evidence to justify the president's recent statement. This seems to be their chief concern now, while the Republicans are seizing upon every opportunity to emphasize the conviction that the president made his statement without sufficient grounds.

Subpoenas have been issued under the direction of the senate committee for more than fifty witnesses, most of whom are expected to testify as to the operations of the sugar lobby. It is supposed that the president supplied most of these names. The subpoenas were issued for men identified with the propaganda that has been going on for a duty on sugar as well as for the free sugar advocates.

Among those who were subpoenaed as witnesses are Henry G. Oxnard, who is prominently identified with the beet sugar industry; Frank C. Lowry, who is secretary of the Wholesale Grocers' association and who has been advocating free sugar; Truman G. Palmer, and practically everybody who has been actively connected with the organization known as the Domestic Sugar Producers' association. It is expected that the examination of senators will be concluded Friday or Saturday, and immediately thereafter the committee will begin calling these witnesses and others for whom subpoenas will be issued later.

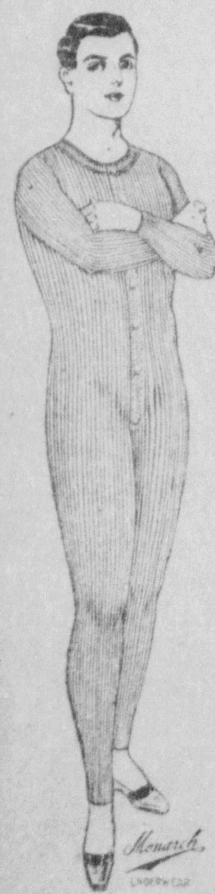

Had No Newspaper Support.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 4.—Notwithstanding the fact that he waged his campaign without the support of a single Los Angeles paper, Judge H. Howard Rose, Independent, was elected mayor of this city over John W. Shenk by a safe majority.

Bryan and Chinda Will Attend.

Washington, June 4.—Secretary of State Bryan and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, will attend the dinner to be given in Pittsburgh Friday evening in honor of George W. Guthrie of that city, who has been appointed ambassador to Japan.
